Fees/Expenses Required For Start Of Class

Uniform Expenses

Uniform expenses will vary per student. You will be required to have a white polo shirt with LifeStart EMT Student patch (included with your fees). You will also need to purchase some items on your own. These include black or blue pants, black belt, and solid black boots or shoes. Many students already have clothing sufficient to meet the requirements. Others can easily acquire these from Walmart, Target, Old Navy, or Academy for well under $100. Do not purchase uniform items until after class starts. You will be provided with a timeline to purchase these, along with specific requirements. If you purchase these early, you may be asked to return them if they do not meet our requirements. Many students have no uniform expenses if they have the above required items in their wardrobe.

FISDAP Clinical Calendar (paid to FISDAP® once class begins)	$20
--	------

Fees/Expenses required half-way through course (paid directly to specific agencies)

National Registry Certification Application	$65
DSHS State Certification Application	$65
Background Fingerprints for State Certification	$45

This course is sponsored by Longhorn EMS (a University of Texas Dean of Student Affairs student organization). The course is taught by LifeStart Training & Consulting, LLC, a private school approved for EMT training and certification by the Texas Department of State Health Services. LifeStart is not affiliated with the University of Texas in any other capacity other than listed above. For this reason, your tuition and fees are not tied in with UT tuition, nor does this qualify for any student financial aid. You may contact PayPal® to qualify for interest-free payment plan to assist you in your course payment.*
